

www.nfr.no/svalbardscienceconference

The Research Council of Norway

In cooperation with

Ny-Ålesund Science
Managers Committee

Svalbard Science Conference 2019 – Svalbard in a pan-Arctic perspective

Photo: Lawrence Hislop, Norsk Polarinstitutt

>> The high Arctic Norwegian archipelago of Svalbard, is a unique platform for high quality international research and education.

Svalbard Science Forum, The Research Council of Norway and the Norwegian Polar Institute in cooperation with NySMAC, invite you to the second Svalbard Science Conference. The focus will be on a changing Svalbard in a pan-Arctic setting. The goal: To enhance research cooperation and quality, build and strengthen interdisciplinary and international networks and consolidate Svalbard as an attractive platform for Arctic research.

We invite participants to submit abstracts and take an active role through presentations, poster sessions and group discussions. Registration and abstract submission will open in March 2019.

Oslo 5–6 of November 2019